ARIA award winner plays at housewarming for lucky Adelaide couple

What: Amy and Jacob's Housewarming

When: 15 November 3pm – 6pm

Where: Hart's Mill Flour Shed, Mundy Street, Port Adelaide

Australian hip hop artist, Drapht, is coming to Adelaide next month for a unique gig: throwing a young couple the ultimate housewarming and inviting 850 people to join the party.

The ARIA award winner will be performing a set at Hart's Mill Flour Shed in Port Adelaide to welcome new homeowners Amy and Jacob into their new Richmond home in.

The event, hosted by South Australian lender HomeStart Finance, has all the essentials of a great Australian housewarming; with Callum Hann and Themis Chyrssidis from 'Sprout' manning the BBQ and NOVA 91.9's Shane Lowe hosting the afternoon and introducing the numerous music acts.

Amy and Jacob, who had been renting for the past year in Port Adelaide, recently purchased their dream 3-bedroom home in Richmond and were thrilled to be chosen as the recipients of the housewarming.

"We're very excited, we're big fans of Drapht and really looking forward to meeting him and our new neighbours – all 850 of them!" Amy said.

"We always thought owning our own home was something that would take years of scrimping and saving to achieve, but after one year, we saved enough for a Graduate Loan with HomeStart.

"HomeStart offers low deposit options which meant we could reduce the amount we needed to contribute upfront and get into our new home sooner than we thought.

"And because the house was brand new we could use the First Home Owner Grant – that was a bonus!"

HomeStart Finance Chief Executive Officer John Oliver said the event is a celebration of achieving the great Australian dream of owning a home and aims to highlight that it is achievable for young people in South Australia.

"For many young South Australian's like Amy and Jacob, getting into housing market can be very difficult," HomeStart CEO John Oliver said.

"When you finally achieve that milestone, it should be celebrated. This housewarming is our way of recognising the achievement for one Adelaide couple."

Party goers will be encouraged to share their photos on the day with #getinsooner for the chance to win a $5000 cash prize.
